AMSTERDAM EVENING RECORDER, TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1925.

Cyrus Durey's Gift to the Town of Caroga.

Development of summer resorts, particularly small colonies of bungaiows used as summer homes by residents of the cities, has taken long strides during the past few years, people of all classes taking more and more to the idea of getting out into the country during the warm season and thereby gaining not only the advantage of living more comfortably during the heated period, but also the benefit of better health.

Residents of Johnstown and Gloversville are exceptionally fortunate as compared to those of most other cities of the state from the fact that these communiities are located in the foothills of the Adirondacks and consequently within a daily driving radius of some of the most attractive spots which have been provided by Mother Nature.

Of all of these which are easily accessible the Caroga and Canada Lakes section doubtless offers the most to appeal to popular favor. However, this lake section with all its natural advantages has some drawfacks which in the past have bindered its development, or to say at least, have proved an obstacle in increasing its summer population. Many residents of Amsterdam, Schenectady and even Albany and Troy are more or less frequent visitors at the Caroga and Canada Lakes, and while charmed with the natural grandeur of that locality with its beautiful sheets of water and towering mountains, they have refrained from erecting summer homes along or near the lakes because of the lack of certain recreational advantages which obtain in other places. As one of many instances three years ago Governor Miller planned to spend his summer at the lakes until he learned there was no golf course in that vicinity.

That this was fully realized by the permanent residents—the landowners of the lake section—was emphatically demonstrated recently when at a special election the taxpayers voted a bond issue of $40,000, this sum to be used in the development of a 100-acre tract donated to the town of Caroga by Hon. Cyrus Durey of Green Lake, with the proviso that it be improved by the construction of a golf course and other means of providing recreation for members of the summer colony.

Mr. Durey's proposal having been accepted, the greatest drawback of the lake section has been permanently obviated and without doubt the coming season and those following it will bring an influx of city folks who will purchase lots and build summer homes thereon, thus increasing the value of all property in that section and proving of large financial benefit to the permanent residents of the town.

It was Mr. Durey who conceived this plan of developing the lake section and his generosity in giving to the town the land necessary to carry out the project cannot be too highly commended. It is concrete evidence that he has the interests of his fellow-townsmen at heart and is possessed of a philanthropic turn of mind backed up by deeds instead of words. The people of the town of Caroga in the years to come will have just cause to appreciate to the full what has been done for them by Cyrus Durey.—Gloy-craylle Leader-Republican,

C. E. DUREY'S GIFT TO CAROGA LAKE

Tract Will be Opened as a Recreation Park and Golf Course.

A gift of 100 acres of land, including a large wooded section, by Cyrus E. Durey, collector of internal revenue for the northern district at Albany, has provided Caroga lake with a new public beauty spot, which will be utilized this season. Under terms of the gift the park is to be utilized as a golf course and recreation park. Much progress in grading the land for the golf course has been made.

Mr. Durey's gift has been followed by an appropriation of $40,000 by the town of Caroga for improvements in the property, $20,000 in bonds having been authorized for sale at once.

The park improvement project is under control of a special commission appointed by the town board of Caroga and consisting of Richard Evans, Johnstown; Burt C. Kasson, Gloversville, and Mr. Durey, whose home is at Caroga.

Lying one mile north of Caroga lake the park is in a beautifully scenic section and offers many new attractions for summer visitors.

Plans for the improvements are extensive, and the park will be one of the finest in this part of the state. Mr. Durey's gift is greatly appreciated by the residents of the town, and will be of benefit to the public generally.

Caroga lake is one of the favored summer places in the southern Adirondacks and is regularly visited by many vacationists. The park will be a beautiful added source of interest..—Knickerbocker Press.

ADIRONDACKS TO HAVE ANOTHER GOLF COURSE

EXCELLENT DEVELOPMENT UNDER WAY NEAR CAROGA LAKE NEW STATE ROAD BIG FACTOR

Makes Distance from Utica to

Pine Lake 40 Miles

Increasing popularity of the Adirondacks and recognition of that increase by residents of Adirondack communities is seen in the creation of another mountain course. This one is being laid out near Wheelerville between Caroga and Canada Lakes in Fulton County. Work is now under way and will be continued as long as weather permits in hope that the first nine holes will be ready for use late next summer.

The significant thing about this new undertaking is that it has been financed by a $40,000 bond issue by the town of Caroga. The land for the course was deeded by Cyrus Durey, Pine Lake. Mr. Durey has been responsible for much of the current development along Green, Canada, and Pine Lakes and shown his interest in the nature of these attractive summer places by turning over the land for this new project.

Although towns would hardly be expected to finance an undertaking of this sort, the Caroga people were so impressed by its possibilities for the future that there were only five votes cast against the resolution authorizing the bond issue. Once the permission had been granted no time was lost in clearing the land needed for the greens and fairways. The terrain is rather rough so that the course promises to be very sporty. There seems to be an abundance of good soil which also make the production of grass easier than has been the case in some mountain courses.

Special legislation was needed to permit the town to engage in this venture. Control of the course will be vested in a commission including Mr. Durey, Richard Evans and Burt C. Kasson. Rules for use of the course have not been determined but it is understood that daily, weekly, and seasonal permits will be issued upon payment of appropriate fees.

Tennis courts have also been laid out and backstops erected. If the project develops in accordance with the plans of its sponsors, another nine holes will be added to the course and probably also a club house with suitable locker space and facilities for meals.

The course lies northwest of Johnstown and Gloversville on the state road which ends near Green Lake post office, the highway continuing northward, however to Piseco Lake. It is one of the most sightly sections of the Adirondacks, and has had unusually rapid development during the last few years. Canada Lake is the largest of a group which includes Green and West, the three being united by channels.

From the new fire observation tower on top of Kane Mountain overlooking Canada Lake, no less than 13 lakes can be discerned. The scenery is really quite superb and being easily accessible from New York and the Mohawk Valley, the promoters of that region anticipate for it a promising future.

One factor which will probably contribute to that result is construction of a state road from Stratford eastward to Pine Lake. Its completion will make Pine Lake only 40 miles from Utica and will open to travelers from the western end of the Mohawk Valley a section of the Adirondacks with which few of them are familiar.

CAROGA GOLF COURSE.

Town Votes $30,000 Band Issue to Complets Wheelerville Links.

By a vote of 64 to 14 residents in the town of Caroga recently approved a bond issue of $30,000 which is to be used, if needed, in the completion of the work of the golf course at Wheelerville made possible through the gift of the land by Hon. Cyrus Durey, internal revenue collector of the Fourteenth New York district.

Two years ago Mr. Durey presented the township with land providing they would raise the money through a bond issue to by out a golf course with a club house. At that time there were only four votes cast in opposition to the project when the community was bonded for a total of $50,000. Since then the work on the course has been pushed with the utmost rapidity.

During the present season the first seven holes on the course have been completed and will be ready for use in the spring of 1927.

The club house will also be ready for occupancy in the near future. With the completion of the project the community will stand out as one of the foremost in that section of New York state. They have done more to put the northern lakes on the summer resort map of New York state than any other body of people there.

Mr. Durey was the first to foresee the great possibilities in the country. It is well that the people have given their utmost cooperation to the project. They can already see their goal ahead. It means much to the town of Caroga in the near future.

LINKS

Yheelerville 7-Hole Course a House Open to Public

Two of the things which will make the Garoga and Canada lake section in creasingly popular with the people of the Mohawk valley is the seven-hole Mohawk is golf course and club house, both which have been open to the public for several weeks. The links and house are unique in that they have been made by the township of Caroga, Fulton county, the township of Caroga, Fulton county, and only for the use of its residents for any law-abiding citizens who desire to make use of them. That this has been a popular move is proven by the interest shown in the enterprise by but the interest shown in the current the summer residents and motoring the tourists.

The club house and golf course are cuted at Wheelerville, midway bemidway belocated tween Garoga and Canada lakes. links have an elevation of over over 1,500 feet above the sea and golfers play at this altitude in the clean, brisp air the Adirondacks over links which give outlooks upon a beautiful landscape of rugged mountains and lake waters.

The links and club house were ideas of Hon. Cyrus Durey, who is not only be collector of internal revenue for the Albany district, but a power in the second of the north country, Mr. Durey is a native of the town of Caroga and lives at Pine lake, where he has a picturesque home alongside the Adirondack Midway road, it along the Adirondac for which he prophesies a great future as one of America's finest scenic tour ing routes. Cyrus Durey is a man o ing routes. Cyrus Durey is a man of vision and the public links at Wheeler-ville are part of his plans for the future, when the Canada-Garoga-Pine lake country will be one of the most popular summer resort sections in New York state. All that is needed to bring that about is a good big modern hotel at some central point in the lakes region. To develop the sightly land, donated by Mr. Durey for a public golf course and to create a modern club house town of Caroga has expended $60,000. The club house will have a restaurant and a fine dance floor. It will also have rooms for golfers, dressing rooms, etc. A golf course has been developed with seven holes. It lies to the northeast of the club house on the opposite side of the lakes highway. The fair ways are somewhat rough but, with another season's work, a fine course should be completed. Two additional holes will be added and a nine-hole course will be open for play in 1928. Eventually an eighteen-hole course will be created. The public is cordially invited to play the links for which a small fee will be

LOCAL GOLF PRO GOING TO CAROGA

Fred Allen Will Be Associated . With New Recreation Park Coming Season.

Fred Allen of Amsterdam, well known golf professional, has been secured to act as golf pro at the Caroga Recreation park in the town of Caroga for the season of 1938, which will open April 15. Allen was golf "pro" at the Sir William Johnson Country club last year, previous to which he held a similar position at Sacandaga and with several well known country clubs.

Securing of a professional golfer to have charge of the new course at Wheelerville, give instructions, etc. marks the culmination of a project launched three years ago to provide a recreation park in the town of Caroga, between Canada and the two Caroga lakes.

This was made possible by the gift of eighty or more acres of land from Cyrus Durey of Green Lake and Johnstown, at present federal internal revenue collector, in charge of the 14th New York district. The project was financed by the town of Caroga which authorized a special bond issue for this purpose.

A nine hole course has been laid out, the last two having been completed last year, and the fairways, greens, etc. were in excellent condition despite the fact it was still practically a new course. Since the first holes were completed the public has been permitted the use of the course without charge and as a result, there was considerable activity last season.

Announcement is made that with the opening of the 1928 season, the course will continue in operation as a public course but a charge will be made for use of same, provision having been made for a fee covering the entire season for those who desire to enroll as members of the club, while there will also be a green fee for golfers who desire to play once in a while, without enrolling for the entire season.

The club house, just across the road from the No. 1 hole, is rapidly nearing completion and when the work is finished, it will be thrown open, marking another important addition to the recreation park program. Negotiations are now water way for securing someone to have charge of the club house.

The commission designed by the town of Caroga to supervise the operation of the new recreation part operation of Cyrus Durey and James M. Evans of Johnstown and Burt Z. Kasson of Gloversville.

Statue Overlooks Land Where Famous Indian Fighter Passed Latter Part of His Life; Little Miss Helen Gage Unveils Monument Which Is Accepted on Behalf of Town by Hon. Cyrus Durey

The memory of Major Nicholas Stoner, famous soldier, ploneer and Indian fighter, was fittingly honored in dedicatory exercises and the unveiling of a magnificent life size statue of him, at Caroga Recreation Park, in the Town of Caroga, yesterday afternoon.

Located upon a point of eminence in the center of the golf course of the park, the bronze figure, upon a base of natural stones views the modern fields and hills which the famous resident once traveled in its embryonic state. Majestically the old Indian fighter stands with flint-lock in hand, overlooking the old Stoner home, where long since the echo of the war whoop and the report of the flint-lock musket have given way to civilization. Imposingly viewing the land where the latter part of his life was passed; where wild animals abounded and the name of Stoner was as familiar to the Red skin as it is to the student of history, the beautiful statue may be viewed by the passing auto-mobilist as a lasting memory to all in emulating the deeds and

Historian, who delivered the principal address at the dedication and who has been heard in Johnstown on other occasions, not only re tained his old friends but made many new ones. His talk was s valuable contribution 's the history of "Nick" as he was familiarly known and also the men and wom en of the Revolution. He took for his topic, "Nick Stoner and His Times." Dr. Flick said in part; In these Sesquicentennial ob-

She served three years when she was wounded and was placed in a hospital at Philadelphia. There her sex was discovered and of course she was dismissed, with words of praise from Washington. She married, reared a family, and died in 1827. After her death her husband, who had not served in the Revolution, applied to the Federal Government for a pension on the ground that he was the "relict" of a Revolutional soldier.

Nick Stoner, whose memory we commemorate, today was born, according to Simms, in 1726 of German parents in Maryland. Hence his life stretched back into American colonial history. He was a year old when there came to an end the French and Indian War, which determined that the North American Continent would be English and not French. In that same war the American colonists gained that proficiency in military matters that enabled them a generation later to win for themselves an independent status among the nations of the world.

Largely as result of the leadership displayed in this same French and Indian War, there emerged here in what was then Tryon County one of the outstanding figures of our colonial period, Sir William Johnson, As Superintendent of Indian Affairs, his influence extended from Maine to the Mississippi. As a member of the Governor's Council he wielded great political power. He was a conspicuous leader in trade, agriculture, stock raising, social life, education and religion. Knighted for his services by the Crown, a great landowner and enriched by shrewd trading, he did much to lay the foundations for the Loylist party a Nations loyal to the King. In the discussion of the tea tax. the Stamp Act, and other obnoxious measures he seemed to take a neutral position but when he did speak it was as an empire builder.

It was a matter of no small significance that Henry Stoner with his sons, John and Nick. came to Fonda's Bush in this region when Sir William Johnson was at the summit of his activities. Nick was not more than eight years of age at the 'me but he must have met Sir William and heard a great deal about him. Had Sir William ot died in 1774, the young frontiersman, like so many others, might have found it more difficult to come out openfor the Revolution. He enough to understand the ardent discussions of the lasues of the day and after he moved down into the valley the avenues of communication were open for him to know of the exciting happenings in the seaports.

The American Revolution opened a new chapter in world history but it was only recently that we came to realize this fact. We see now that the back through a century and a half of colonial history, We now know that it was tremendously complex. We under-stand that the Pairiots were made up of merchants, plantfrontiersmen, and the workers in the cities. We see that religion played a big part In It. And we know that the results were social, economic. religious and educational as well as political.

New York's part in the Revo-lution has been ignored and cellttled. I wish to assert that the role of the Patriots c' thin State was an honorable one. New York was the Belgium of the struggle and had to bear the brunt of the fighting. No other State was menaced by a powerful Confederation of hostile Indians. No other State had so many Tories in its pepulation. No other State had its seaport in the hands of the soemy during the entire ware. No other State in proportion to numbers and wealth contributed more soldiers and supplies. And no other State had abler statemen and military leaders.

Young Nick Stoner was a true patriot in a region where such a stand meant heroism. His young German heart was fired by the great lasues of freedom and self government. His father, remembering the political and religious tyranny from which he fled from the Old World to the New World took up arms for ind pendence.

He witnessed the evacuation of the British from New York in 1783. Altogether he must have seen six years of er's Indian murderer is intensely interesting. He was in Johnstown on one of his infrequent visits. On entering the public room of the inn kept by Von Clair, probably the present home of Courty Clark Cross, found several Indian hunters who had come down from the wilderness "spose of their furs. and had become intoxicated, having completed their sales and re-ceived their money. They were boasting, each to the other of his own prowess, as Indiana when Intoxicated always will, and us men

Held Praisworthy

At the time this act was held to be praiseworthy. He was not called to account for it by the law, although lodged in jail for a few hours when he was released by demand of the entire town. Today such an act would be con-demned. But the horrors of indian warfare were still a vivid memory to all and the Old Testament law of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" was of ten the rule of conduct. Individual acts frequently avenged individual wrongs instead of awaiting the slow moving law. Such has been the fact in all new countries.

In his old age he built a house at Newkirks, where Garrett A. Newkirk had established a busy community and there he spent the last half a dozen years of his life, enjoying a pension from the country for his services in two wars and delighting as all old folks do, in recounting stories of his youth and middle age when he had been extarordinarily active.

All those who knew him liked him, admired him and tried to make his last days pleasant. When he died in 1853, his funeral was held at Johnstown and the procession which followed him to his grave, in the Kingsboro cemetery, was said to be the largest proces sion that the county had seen up to that time. He was buried there and not in Caroga, to give every one the opportunity to pay their last respects to one of the last surviving soldiers of the Revolutionary resident in the county, and to this personally attractive old pioneer and woodsman, who belonged to the entire county and not to Ca

MEMORIAL TO MAJOR STONER UNVEILED AT CAROGA PARK

Impressive Ceremonies Carried beautiful statue may be viewed by Out in Presence of a Large By Cyrus Durey.

The memory of Major Nicholas Stoner, famous soldier, ploneer and indian fighter, was fittingly honcred in dedicatory exercises and the parelling of a fine life sized statue of him at Caroga Recreation parts in the town of Caroga, Fulton coun-

ly. Wednesday afternoon. Located upon an eminence in the park, the bronze figure, upon a base of native stones, views the modern felds and hills which the famous resident once traveled in its embryonic state. Majestically the old lidian fighter stands with flint-lock is hand overlooking the old Stoner lone, where long since the echo of the war whoop and the report of the musket have given way to civmatten. Imposingly viewing the land where the latter part of his life was passed, where wild animals stounded and the name of Stoner it is to the student of history, the board of supervisors, in the capac-THE THE PARTY OF T

Out in Presence of a Large place at 2:30 in the presence of a Gathering — State Historian large audience, members of the Fick Makes Principal Ad- eral Richard Montgomery chapter, and Johnstown chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution many prominent residents of Fulton and nearby countles.

The principal address was delivered by Dr. Alexander C. Flick, state historian, who was accompanled by his son, both of whom have an especial interest in the history of Fulton county.

Following a dinner served at the Nick Stoner Inn, at which Supervisor Guy Durey entertained the members of the Fulton county board of supervisors, the clerk of rester of the golf course of the the board and one or two others, and Flick, Robert W. Chambers of Broadalbin, L. N. Littauer, W. Elli-Flick. son Mills of Gloversville and a number of visitors, all adjourned to the golf course.

Headed by the Gloversville Milltary band, through the courtesy of the Gloversville lodge, No. 226, B. P. O. Elks, a line was formed and a parade made to the site of the monument.

The exercises were opened by a sclection by the band, after which was as familiar to the redskin as Chairman Asa B. Peake, of the ity of chairman of the occasion, introduced the Rev. Walter Shaver, pastor of the North Bush-Caroga M. E. church, who gave the invocation.

Chairman Peake then made a few introductory remarks. He brought out that in these days of modern progress and pleasure bent but little thought is given to the past. He referred to the sacrifices and patriotism of the men and women who made the history of this country and pointed out the commendable spirit of the present generation in marking and- honoring the characters and sites of those who so conspicuously and capably made history, that those who rush by may read. He said that though it is a rather belated honor, the name Nicholas, Stoner stands out prominently in history and has been honored and brought to the attention of people by famous writers. .The unveiling of the monument was a pleasing part of the occasion. The statue, draped in a American flag, was unveiled by little Miss Helen Gage, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gage of Green Lake and Master Henry Stoner Gage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Gage, of Johnstown, descendants of Major Stoner in the sixth generation. As the flag gave way, disclosing the bronze statue of Major Stoner, the "Salute By the Spirit of '76" was carried out. Danlel Hamm, as fifer, John Soules, Sr., and John Soules, Jr., as the drummers in the costume of the Revolutionary prelod marched around the monument.

The younger generation, to whom the life of Major Stoner has been vividly brought to mind in the perpetuation of his memory, by the monument, had an important part in the exercises. The Fulton county Scouts' bugle and drum corps made a big impression in the part it had in carrying out the Scout salute in front of the monument.

Following this the monument was accepted by Cyrus Durey on behalf of the town of Caroga. Assembly-man Eberly Hutchinson, who had been expected to accept the monument, was called out of the county on business and was unable to return in time.

After the singing of "America" by the nudlence, led by Cornetist George Parkman of the band, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Peter Winkleman, pastor of St. Barbara's chapel, Caroga Lake.

The project for a monument to Major Stoner was started over a year ago by Caroga townspeople as a tribute to the famous old hunter and trapper, whose name is linked with the history of Caroga and the adjacent country. Ald was given by the Fulton county board of supervisors and the state department.

COMMISSIONERS SUBMIT REPORT FOR LAKE PARK

Thomas Vill Will Take Over Lease of Nick Stoner Club from Dudley

RECEIPTS MOUNTING

Nine Holes to Be Added to the Golf Course During Coming Year

Park Commissioners, Cyrus Durey, Richard M. Evans and Burt Z.
Kasson, of the Town of Caroga Park, have submitted a report to the Town Board showing the receipts, expenditures and activities of the park for one year. The receipts for the year exceed the expenditures. Announcement is also made that Thomas VIII, former sheriff, and well known hotes man will take over the lease of the Nick Stoner club, from George Dudley.

The report of the Park Commissioners is as follows;

Commissioners' Report.
To the Town Board of the Town of

Caroga:

"The undersigned, acting as Park Commissioners of the Town report as follows on their activities and expenditures for the Town Park over which this commission has control. The total receipts during the season paid over to the supervisor as treasurer of the town, amounted to $1698.15, arising from the following sources, viz: 145 season tickets, $2425.00; Daily tennis, $175.50; Daily, Sunday and holiday tickets, $1909.45.

As a matter of fact, in addition to the 145 season tickets tioned above, 18 of the 1929 season tickets were sold in the closing days of 1928 and were accounted for in last year's report. were actually 163, 192' season tickets in existence. The increase in use of the course by the public is shown by a comparison of the 1928 and the 1929 figures,-163 season tickets in 1929 against 110 in 1928; 798 daily tickets in 1929 against 461 in 1928; 741 Saturday, Sunday and Holiday tickets in 1929 against 356 in 1928. The use has practically doubled in one year, in fact, crowded conditions prevailed at times during the season.

The actual cost of maintenance for the year as shown by figures submitted by the "Pro" was $4424.64 made up of labor $3757.52; machinery and supplies $667.12, so that the actual receipts thus shown exceed the expenditures by $273.51.

During the year - monument was erected in the Park to the memory of Major Nicholas Stoner, early settler of the town, Revolutionary soldier and a typical early ploneer. The expense was borne by the County, State and the Town. location being in the Park, it became necessary for this commission to make the expenditures for the site and on that account, an additional labor bill in clearing, blasting and grading was incurred $927.80. This amount does not include the cost of construction of the road leading to it, which was borne by the highway department of the Town.

At the commencement of the year, there was due and owing for fertilizers and other supplies $603.91, and bill for machinery and repairs amounting to $495.00 was paid by the supervisor on the order of this commission. There are a few items for bills incurred still unpaid amounting to in the neighborhood of $200.00.

A feature of the Park that is popularizing the project is the start that has been made in gathering together native wild birds and animals, the expense of which up to date has been met by private subscription. A further expansion will call for help from the park authorities.

All in all, this season has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Commission that the entire project is bound to be successful and a benefit to the Town as well as a pleasure to the many thousands who annually visit it.

A special Town meeting was held on the 18th to determine by vote of the taxpayers if a further expension is advisable. As your board knows, the taxpayers with a surprising unanimity, but 4 negative votes being cast, voted for such expansion.

If the intent of the voters is carried out, and another nine holes constructed, it it believed by this Commission that more and more people will use the course and that revenues arising therefrom will eventually not only pay the running expense of the Park, but in addition, will pay the original cost and that the community will own the finest Park in Northern New York without any actual cost to the taxpayers of the Town.

COMMISSIONERS MAKE INTERESTING REPORT ON CAROGA RECREATION PARK

past year at the new recreation park in the Town of Caroga, to the town board of that town.

The report of the commission consisting of Cyrus Durey, Richard M. Evans and Burt Z. Kasson follows:

"This Board of Park Commissioners established by laws has certain duties, a description of which done the current year is hereby submitted.

In 1929, the use of the town park had so increased that it became evident the golf course maintained in it should be enlarged to accommodate the players, and the commission so recommended to the Town Board.

The Town Board thereupon submitted the question to a vote of the taxpayers of the town (and resident taxpayers only are eligible to vote on or determine the question of an appropriation for such a purpose) and at the special town meeting called for voting on the question, only 3 votes were cast in opposition.

A bond issue of $18,000 was approved. Pieces of land owned by Charles Mead, Elizabeth Richards and Robert Wandel were required to properly lay out an additional nine hole course. These were bought, which, with the acreage donated by Cyrus Durey, was considered ample. The amount realized from the sale of the $18,000 bonds, not being sufficient, another special town meeting was held and $6,000 was voted to finish the work. It is a striking fact that no negative vote whatever was cast on this second appropriation. The work has now been completed and the new course will be ready for play as

The Board of Park Commission- $953.02, for manure $524.00, for supers have submitted an interesting plies such as hardware, tools, etc., summary of activities during the $2,000, for labor $23,673.14, which entire cost has been paid. Town owes in bonds $24,000 which it borrowed and used in construction. The balance of $5,350,16 came from profits from the old course of $2,128.71 and the rest from audits and the use of the surplus on hand.

The gross receipts for season tickets and daily playing tickets during the season was $9,961.10. while the expenditure on the first nine holes was $7,832.39, leaving a P net promit of $2,128.71. This profit Y on the old course would have been S considerably more but for the fact that near the close of the season it was thought best to make some imp: svements that seemed imperative r which improvements cost $1,500.

The interest cost for the bonds for the park, old and new, is $4,120 and as the bonds are paid off, the interest bill will gradually decrease, so that it would seem that this interest cost can be nearly or fully met from the income of the course, provided it continues to receive the same amount of patronage that it d has the last season.

It goes without saying that the s Park has been an expense to the s town and has created a liability that must be liquidated, either by d income from play or by taxation. It I is equally true that in the park the town has an asset of value. It is I probable that the town could sell the Park for much more than it ; has cost to private parties but it is evident that as an attraction tor the vacationist with its golf, tennis, wild birds and animals and the scenic features, it has a much greater value than from such a; commercial angle. The towns real estate, rental and sales value seem to have greatly benefited and the now been completed and the new course will be ready for play as soon as the growth of grasses on the fairways will permit. It is hoped that by July 1st it can be played. The grasses are mostly bents, slow growing, but the best ones for our land and climate and when fully matured by far the best golf grasses, known. Your commission feels that the new course is well laid out and complementary to the older one, will, with age, make the entire course second to none in most of the features that go to make a fine golf course.

The objective of the original course was to furnish to residents and visitors to the Lake region an up-to-date recreation, and the growth of golf playing makes of that game the ideal recreation.

There was further object in view Generally speaking, golf has been the rich man's game confined to expensive country clubs, unavailable for men and women of small means. It was felt that if it could be made so reasonable in cost as to bring it within the reach of this multitude a most desirable end would be served.

During the current year 366 people have become holders of annual tickets against 146 in 1929. This, in addition to daily and transient players. It is highly probable that in the next year with the additional nine holes available, another striking increase in the number of players will take place.

The new golf course has cost to date $29,350.16 which money was expended as follows: For the purchase of land $2,100, for grass seed estate, rental and sales value seem to have greatly benefited and the lakes as a recreation resort have increased in vogue.

Every city and many other municipalities now maintain parks and recreation places, often at great expense. They have become a necessary part of the expense of government. How much more necessary parks are to a town like Caroga, whose only business is the catering to vacationists who go where their aesthetic or other tistes may be satisfied. It is well to remind those resident in the county and with property interests in both county and town, that the maintenance of this park, in the Caroga Lake region, makes less necessary expensive parks elsewhere in the county. Further, if it benefits the town which is an integral part of the county, it also benefits the county as a whole. Its use is for all, whether residents of the town or not and as the town grows, the county grows.

In property values the town is now 21/2 per cent of the total value of the county. No many years ago, it was less than 1/4 of 1 per cent of the total and the new property and the new values created, pays its taxes in the county and lessens the taxes paid by other taxpayers.

The automobile makes this region almost as accessible as Main street to the average inhabitants of the cities. And every health reason urged for parks by the State or by the cities applies to this park with added force since it is Undertakings Not Filed Two Justices of the Peace had not filed an official undertaking in the office of the Town Clerk and Justices of the Peace had not been filed in the office of the County Clerk, except in one instance that being Justice Frank Groshans who had complied with the details of the statute.

In the course of the examination the examiner installed the uniform system cash book.

The Supervisor had erred in relation to a charge for auto hire wherein he had charged at the rate of 8 cents per mile when entitled to only "actual and necessary expenses."

While the accounts of the Supervisor were generally well kept, the audit developed an overpayment of interest at the bank to the extent of $76 which amount was refunded

The examiner installed a bond register in the office of the Town Clerk during the progress of the examination as the record was incomplete in this respect.

Erroneous Fee Charged

An examination of the audited claims disclosed the fact that the Supervisor had charged a fee for the disbursement of highway funds, whereas his allowance in a flat amount is the only compensation to which he is entitled. Another audited claim which should not have been paid represented $100 keeping the books of the Supervisor." This is in no sense a proper Town charge as the Supervisor is presumed to be his own bookkeeper. A similar claim in like amount was submitted by the taxcollector for copying assessment book. This is a duty of the assessor and therefore should not have been paid. Other claims not properly itemized were audited and allowed.

One of the most serious disclosures of the examination was the fact that some of the Town officials were interested in contracts with the Town.

Illegal Contracts

While the contracts were not large the action of the board was clearly contrary to the provisions of 133 of the Town Laws which prohibits any member of the Town Board from submitting a claim or demand against the Town in which he has a direct or indirect interest, other than for his per diem compensation while acting as a member of the board.

Several claims submitted by the Town Clerk were likewise illegally allowed as illustrated by a charge for services rendered in connection with election matters. Services in this relation should be compensated by the allowance of a flat sum and no fee or per diem charge made therefor.

The Supervisor did not render an accounting on the 28th day of Dewhen attention was called thereto. cember as required by statute.

O. E. and H. O. Busch and Harry E. Van Hoff Purchase Stoner Inn

The formal transfer of the club house property of the Nick Stoner Country Club, Inc., at Wheelerville to Oscar E. Busch, his son, Harold O. Busch of this city, and Harry E. Van Hoff of Hudson, took place yesterday morning.

Two deeds were filed with County Clerk E. T. Cross, one given by the Nick Stoner Club, Inc. to Ernest L. Luff and Guy Durey, executors of the estate of the late Hon Cyrus Durey, and the second was from the executors to the Messrs Busch and Van Hoff. The latter is a brother-in-law of the senior Busch.

The consideration involved was approximately $20,000 and the new owners plan to conduct an up-todate summer hotel. Mr. Van Hott. former hotel man, who at one time was manager of the Metropolitan hotel in Harrisburg, Pa. will be in charge of the dining-room.

The date of the opening has not as yet been definitely decided upon.

The Nick Stoner club was formed a few years ago, at the same time a new recreation park was created in the Town of Caroga, made posalble by a substantial gift of land from Mr. Durey. He also held certain mortgages given by the club, in consideration of which the clubhouse property was transferred back to the executors to be disposed of in connection with the settling of the estate.

The transfer was signed by Harold B. Northrup, vice-president, and Judge L. B. Moore, secretary, in behalf of the club, upon permission given in a Supreme Court order signed by Judge Erskine C. Rogers

TOWN OF CAROGA AFFAIRS TO BE GIVEN AIRING IN ACTIONS AGAINST FORMER SUPERVISOR

Litigation Commenced By Town Against Guy Durey to Recover Money Claimed Illegally Paid and to Compel Accounting; Charges Contested and Lively Legal Battle May Be Result of Controversy

Actions have been commenced by the Town of Caroga, this county, against Guy Durey, former supervisor, to recover moneys which it is claimed were illegally paid by Mr. Durey while he was supervisor and to compel him to have been commenced Town of Caroga, this account.

The actions which it is understood involve the estate of the late Cyrus Durey, to some extent, are being contested by the former being contested by the former supervisor through Attorney Alfred D. Dennison of this city, and has indications of a lively legal battle for the town, it is stated.

State Makes Audit

Mr. Durey was supervisor of the town for many years until January I, 1934. In the November, 1933, election Howard Morey was chosen supervisor and proceeded to have the books and records examined. supervisor and proceeded to have the books and records examined. It is claimed that in endeavoring to make an examination he requested the State comptroller to make an audit. A representative of the comptroller's office took the matter up, but claimed that he was unable to make a correct audit because of the manner in which the entries were made, and his inability to find all the necessary records. It is further claimed that Mr. Durey failed and neglected to deliver to his successor, or file with the town clerk upon his expiration of term of office, certain books and records. In October, 1935, upon application by Supervisor Morey to the Supreme Court, an order was obtained directing Mr. Durey to show cause why he should not deliver and file books and records. Before the return of the order certain books and 0 and records. Before the return of the order certain books and records were filed by him with the town clerk, it is stated. The town claims that an examination the records show that Mr. against Durey presented claims against the town for materials furnished and services performed, and that as a member of the Town Board, he acted as an auditor of these bills and that he issued orders therefore and collected the pro-ceeds. It is further claimed that

The town further claims that it is unable to determine from the books and records the state of the supervisor's accounts because the various funds are not classified and the proper charges against the various funds of the town.
Golf Course Land
Among those in question is

Among those in question is an item of $4,000, which the town authorized to be raised and expended for the purchase of additional and a golf course, and ed for the purchase of additional lands to extend a golf course, and for equipment, $4,000 of which was to be used for the purchase of lands. The records show that only $2,100 was paid for the purchase of lands, but the town contends that it is unable to determine from the records how the remaining or lands, but the town contends that it is unable to determine from the records how the remaining $1,900 was expended. The town also contends that lands were used in extending the golf course which Cyrus Durey agreed to convey to the town without compensation, but that during his lifetime henever made the conveyance, although Guy Durey, his brother, was supervisor. It is further claimed that although the town did not have title to the land, that Mr. Durey, as supervisor, improved the Cyrus Durey land as a part of the golf course and expended a large amount of town moneys in so doing and in improving it and in maintaining it. The town claims that it cannot determine from the books and records how much was expended in improving and maintaining these lands and it is necessary for that and other reasons stated in the complaint for Mr. Durey to render an account of his annual receipts, which amounted to more than $20,000 and his disbursements.

The town is represented in the matter by Judge Charles E. Linguist and the complaint of the matter by Judge Charles E. Linguist and the matter by Judge Charles E. Town Board Audits

It was stated that the town board consisting of Frank Sherman, Bert Foster, Fay Gage and Frank consisting of Frank Sherman, Bert Foster, Fay Gage and Frank Groshans approved of the items on the bills and the expenditures were authorized and further that reports were made to the state and examined by state examiners. It is also contended that an amount is still owing the Cyrus Durey estate in connection with land matters and affairs of the town are to be scrutinized under a later regime. a later regime.

LITIGATION INVOLVING ESTATE OF CYRUS DUREY AND CAROGA GOLF COURSE LANDS SETTLED

Legal Actions Started in 1935 Against Former Supervisor and Others Adjusted According to Announcement Yesterday; Residents of Town Secure Rights to Additional Land and Water

Settlement has been made in the two actions brought in 1935 by the Town of Caroga against Guy Durey, former supervisor, involving accountings and also claims for repayment of moneys which it was claimed had been paid out by him while supervisor, also the claim of the Town of Caroga against the Cyrus Durey estate for the conveysnce of lands relating to the golf course in that town, according to announcement yesterday.

The Town claimed that during the lifetime of Cyrus Durey, he had agreed to give and convey lands required for an additional nine holes course in that town.

Former Supervisor Guy Durey claimed that the payments made by him as supervisor, were legal and proper payments. The estate contended that the late Cyrus Durey did not intend to give the lands to the town, but that he expected compensation therefor. Mr. Durey died without giving a deed.

According to the announcement, it was found by making a survey of the first nine holes that the lands described in the deed originally given by Cyrus Durey, did not cover all of the first nine holes of golf, that additional lands were being used and that a part of the lands which had been laid out and used for the second nine heles had previously been conveyed by Cyrus Durey to Oscar Busch of Johnstown and Wheelerville, and the description of the lands whereon the golf house was located did not include all the lands the Town desired.

The Town also desired certain water rights which were necessary in the use of the golf course, it is stated. The Town has expended $2,100 for other lands, besides several thousand dollars in maintaining the course and raised $4,000 by bond issue, according to the re-

Negotiations have been pending for a considerable length of time, it is stated, and numerous conferences were held between the parties in order to adjust the existing differences.

The settlement arrived at gives to the Town of Caroga all the rights and lands required and used in maintaining the golf course and additional lands necessary for the solf house and certain water rights, it is said.

The Town paid to the Durey Estate the sum of $650.00 for the additional lands and water rights.

The actions against Cyrus Durey have been discontinued without costs.

Judge Charles E. Hardies of Amsterdam, was attorney for the Town of Caroga and Alfred D. Dennison was attorney for Cyrus Durey and the Durey estate.

Nick Stoner Course. The Nick Stoner golf course, named after the hardy scout of Colonial days, is situated in the Town of Caroga and offers additional recreational facilities to residents of Gloversville and the vicinity.

The club, which is conducted as a municipal project, is the outgrowth of an offer by the late Cyrus Durey to contribute a large portion of land if the town would authorize the expenditure of money to establish a golf course, park and playgrounds. This was done, with the result that nine holes was constructed and several tennis courts provided. A caddy house also was set up.

Within a few years, Mr. Dursy again contributed a large percel of land on the opposite side of the road and a second nine holes was constructed.

Fred Allen was the first professional at the course and he was succeeded by the present pro, Channing Floyd, who has served a number of years.

Max Fowler Runner-Up In Golf Tournament at Nick Stoper Club Links

Fran Smith, Gloversville, amateur golfer nosed out Max Fowler of this village, 6 and 5, recently to become the first man to win the Nick Stoner Golf club championship three times. Smith's victory retires the Cyrus Durey cup, which has been in circulation for a number of years. The matches, of course, were played on the Nick Stoner links, town of Caroga.

Twice before Smith won the trophy and held possession of it during the winter months, but his third victory gives it to him permanently.

Smith was a finalist in the Fulton county amateur championship in August. He had to be at his best to beat the St. Johnsville man and a medal score of 72, one over par, for the 18.

The winner had a two under par 34 on the first nine holes, against Fowler's 37, to hold a two hole margin at the turn. The champion continued to apply the pressure on the second nine, and on the first four holes, to close out the match quickly.

A Popular Gay Leaves the Profession

While on the subject of golf, one must note with regret the retirement of Bob Ray. Nick Stones professional the last five years. Bob took over from Chan at Caroga Lake and became popular with the many golfers who play the 18-hole layout. And don't let anyone tall you that it ian't a king-sized too handling Nick Stones affairs, particularly on those jammed weekends.

Bob is a good teacher and would have been in the winner's circle quite frequently in Northeastern New York PGA tourneys if he had had sufficient time to practice and to participate in the regular Monday affairs. He hit a good ball, one of the longest of the area, but now believes that his golf "will be restricted to some apple orchard."

Channing Floyd, Dean Of Golf Professionals In Eastern N.Y., Dies

Channing Floyd, a golf professional for 54 years this month and the teacher of thousands of enthusiasts over a long period of years in Fulton County, died at 4:30 this morning in Littauer Hospital after a lingering filness. He would have been 79 on Dec. 24.

Death overtook Fulton County's "Mr. Golf" virtually on the eve tournament to be conducted at Kingsboro Sunday in his honor. The committee this morning was furthering plans to go ahead with the event for professionals and amateurs with the only difference being that it will be a memorial instead of a testimonial affair.

Most of the veteran teacher's areer had been spent at three fulton County courses-Sacandaga, Nick Stoner at Caroga Lake, and Kingsboro-in that order. The nain interruption was five years as professional, after World War I, at the Cobleskill Country Club. He was the dean of golf professionals in Eastern New York.

Like many of his fellow profes-sionals who have devoted a lifetime to the game, Chan started as a caddie at the Washington Park Club in his native Chicago. One of the highpoints of his career came in 1954 when he was awarded a life membership in the Professional Golf Association, effective that Oct. 1.

Won Major Tournaments

He left Chicago when a young man and participated in some of the leading amateur golf tournaments in the New York City area. He won the Greater New York championship, which today could be compared to the state-wide tournament, in 1906 and 1907 and in the latter year added the Pelham Bay public links title and the Westchester County crown to his laurels. It was after those successes that he decided to turn profes-

He served as professional at Passaic, N.J., for three years and in the metropolitan New York area at what are today some of the leading golf courses in the country.

Chan came to Fulton County prior to World War I and served for 15 years as professional at Sacandaga Park. From there he went to Nick Stoner at Caroga Lake for a tenure of 16 years. In 1946 he was instructor at Kingsboro and then went to the Cobleskill Country Club for a 5-year stint.

In 1952 he was back at Sacandaga Park for a season and that was followed by service as a teaching professional at Kingsboro. Because of declining health he did not give any lessons this year. Lawrence Mattei, professional and owner of the Kingsboro club, substituted for him at Gloversville Recreation Commission classes.

A fine player with a short, snappy swing which brought uncanny accuracy to overcome any lack of distance, Chan had set a number of course records. His 66 at Nick Stoner was low at the time he shot it as was his 69 at Sacandaga Park. His 71 at the Sir William Johnson Club, now Pine Brook, was the best score there at the time he scored it. A brother, Jimmy, now deceased, was professional at the South End course at the time.

The number of golf lessons Chan gave during his 54 years is un known. Besides regular instruction at the clubs with which he was associated, he gave lessons for a number of winters in Gloversville, Schenectady and other places at special clinics which he set up.

Varied Career

Chan also was an author, a designer of courses, an inventor, and a champion billiard player.

He wrote a book called "The Little Golf Teacher" and had contributed numerous items to various newspapers including The Leader-Herald and its predecessors.

He designed at least eight golf courses including the Champlain Country Club, Lake Pleasant, the second nine at Nick Stoner, Arcady Country Club in Lake George, and the Homer Folks Hospital course in

His inventions included a combined putter and cigaret lighter. a washing machine which both cleans and dries the golf ball, and "bulldog spoon" — a snub-nose wood which substituted for what was known as a cleek. It was for close lies

A couple of years ago he was awarded an honorary membership in the Northeastern Golf Course Superintendents Association.

Among his titles gained in billiards was that in a tournament in Passaic, N.J. He played from scratch.

During the last 15 years his career was threatened a couple of times by illness. He contracted tuberculosis and later suffered a heart attack. He bounced back both times and continued to teach and to play golf.

Besides his affiliation with golf groups, he was a member of St. Mary's Church and of the Elks Club.

His wife, Lillian, died in August, 1959.

He resided at 69 Fremont Street. Surviving are a nephew, James Floyd, and a niece, Mrs. Catherine Strenaowski, both of Beacon.
